BRIGGS.

Herbert Howard of Danbury, who recently came to see his mother, Mrs. Anna Johnson, is quite sick there at the present writing.

Clarence Kenyon has gone to visit his mother in Attleboro, Mass.

Wm. Bradley has rented of L. H. Spaulding the house once owned by the late Asa Gates. Mr. Bradley, who is a carpenter by trade, wishes to locate in the spring near some more populous center, where he can ply his trade.

Eugene Heslton was quite seriously hurt Jan. 7, when a load of logs he was hauling to his mill tipped over, and he was jammed and bruised. Dr. White called, but found no bones broken. It will be some time before he will be able to work.

We hear of another more serious accident which happened to George Temple, formerly of Woodstock, but now of Newbury, who has many friends here. Mr. Temple fell from a load of logs, breaking one bone in his neck and completely paralyzing his body. No hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Wm. Bradley has sold his place here to a man from York state; consideration not known.

W. K. Barrows of Stockbridge, a former resident here, made his friends a flying visit January 8.

The archbishop of Lyons, France, has issued a diocesan decree forbidding Catholics reading four Republican newspapers published in his diocese. He declared the reading of the papers to be a sin.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Iacobucci, Charged With Murder of Schittini, Arraigned—Raymond Trainor Assigned to Defend Him.

Pompilio Iacobucci, the Italian indicted for the alleged murder of Domenico Schittini, was lodged in the county jail Wednesday afternoon by Sheriff J. H. Kiniry. Iacobucci, who was arrested in Philadelphia, is 19 years old, of rather slight build, and speaks English imperfectly.

Thursday afternoon the prisoner was arraigned in county court, pleading not guilty.

Raymond Trainor of White River Junction was assigned by the court to defend him, and the trial is set for Monday, January 23.

PRISONER'S WIFE TAKEN TO WINDSOR

Mrs. Iacobucci, who has been detained at the jail as a witness though not under restraint, was taken to Windsor Thursday, where she will remain until the trial begins. She made one or two hysterical scenes at the jail in her efforts to get into communication with her husband, running to the lock-up door every time it was opened, and it was thought best to have her out of the way.

A Novel Joy-riding Rig.

A sleighing party from Woodstock reports seeing something novel and harmless in the line of joy-riding rigs while on the road to Windsor by way of South Woodstock. A few miles from Windsor the local travelers met a young girl comfortably seated in a little home-made cutter drawn by a very small black and white steer still in his happy calf-hood. His equipment included a bridle; bits, an old-fashioned collar, reins, and bells. He seemed to be perfectly broken and pattered along as steadily as a horse twenty times his age.

W. H. S. NOTES.

The senior class has in preparation a play, "The Modern Merchant of Venice," and will present it in the spring.

A base ball team has been organized and will be ready for an active and conquering campaign in the spring. Several games have already been arranged. Hubert Canfield is manager and Harry Wood captain.

Mrs. Shurtleff's 101st Birthday

Mrs. Eliza Thompson Shurtleff, who is one of the oldest residents of New England, passed her 101st birthday at the home of her son, Irving T. Shurtleff, in North Bridgewater, Saturday, January 7. She is in excellent health and was able to see her friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Shurtleff was born in Bridgewater, being the daughter of one of the town's early settlers, Barnabas Thompson. Her husband, Jesse Thompson Shurtleff, died ten years ago. Her grandchildren are Frank H. Shurtleff of North Bridgewater, Lester T. and Arthur L. Newton of New York city.

732 Eggs in 60 Days.

A. B. Jaquith has 16 Rhode Island Red pullets of much ambition and productiveness, and they seem to be after the egg record. During the months of November and December they laid 732 eggs—more than a dozen a day.

WOODSTOCK NOTES

Joseph Rivers of Windsor, who was convicted of kidnapping in county court at the June term, 1909, has since been confined in jail here awaiting the result of an appeal to the supreme court. His case was argued before the supreme court in October, 1909, but no opinion was rendered. He was taken to Montpelier Thursday afternoon by Sheriff Kiniry to appear before the court, and it was expected that his case would be finally disposed of.

Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Hurlburt expect to go to Brattleboro on Monday, for the remainder of the winter, closing their house here.

The next lecture of the winter course will be given by President John M. Thomas of Middlebury college at Music hall Thursday evening, Jan. 17. His subject is "The Spirit of Old Vermont." He is well known to Woodstock people as a speaker and as the head of one of Vermont's best known educational institutions, and the opportunity to bear him is one that will be appreciated by the patrons of the course.

The first annual conference of Vermont boys is being held at Ludlow three days, beginning Friday. About 75 delegates from Windsor county towns are attending.

H. H. Daniels has bought F. B. Wentworth's house at the corner of Maple street and High street extension, and Mr. Wentworth takes the north end of Mr. Daniels' double tenement on Maple street.

Harriet S. Randall of Wheaton, Ill., has transferred the Randall place on River street, where Mrs. A. L. Wood lives, to her children, Ellsworth B. Randall and Harriet E. Randall, of Wheaton, Ill.

Robert Wemple has given up his place as electrician at Billings farm, and with his family is visiting his father in Brownsville this week. Hal E. Payne of Lakeport, N. H., formerly electrician at the farm, returns to his old position there, and Mr. and Mrs. Payne will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Wemple.

The members of Randall Post, G. A. R., and their families were entertained by the W. R. O. Saturday, the annual dinner to the veterans being a pleasant affair as usual. A joint installation of officers followed.

E. P. Ashley has been called to California again, and with Mrs. Ashley leaves today. They will make their headquarters at Pasadena.

Eugene Taylor is soon to establish a dry cleaning plant at his place on Golf avenue, and will put up a building as soon as possible. He will be equipped to do all kinds of dry cleaning in the best manner.

The annual meeting of the Windsor County Agricultural Society will be held at G. A. R. hall Thursday, Jan. 19. The board of managers will meet the following day at the same place.

S. S. Winslow has sold his big pair of draft horses to Albert Adams of Bridgewater.

E. F. Eaton, of the Strout agency, has deeded the Wm. T. Bradley farm near Briggs to Clarence Z. Braley of Boreas River, N. Y.

The King's Daughters will hold a sewing meeting at Mrs. John Boles' Tuesday afternoon, January 17. Everybody come.

Windsor County Court.

DECEMBER TERM, 1910.

Hon. E. L. Waterman, Presiding Judge

The court is at present occupied with divorce cases and court issues, the jurors having been excused until Jan. 23, when it is expected that the Iacobucci murder case will be put on trial.

Eben Rumrill, a one-legged individual from Chester, pleaded guilty of keeping intoxicating liquors with intent to sell or dispose of the same contrary to law, and was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than five months in jail.

Susan Barrett of Rutland, the companion in flight and crime of Dr. Charles Bates of Ludlow, pleaded guilty of adultery and her case is under consideration with reference to putting her upon probation.

The divorce case of Oxford vs. Oxford from Cavendish, intolerable severity, was heard on Saturday morning. No decision was announced.

The much considered proposition to continue the case of William S. Pingree vs. Joseph Bean was further considered last week Friday. Numerous affidavits of doctors and laymen were presented to show that it would be extremely hazardous to Mr. Bean's health and life to leave his home in Ludlow and come to Woodstock in this cold and uncertain weather, and the case was continued. Davis & Davis for defendant.

The case of Louis LaMere vs. Joseph Dumas was tried on Monday and Tuesday, the jury having quite a struggle over the case. It was a case of replevin over the honesty of a horse trade. LaMere swapped horses with Dumas, then wanted his trotter again. Dumas held on, so LaMere brought replevin to get the horse. The dazed jury disagreed and was discharged.

Murty J. Riley.

Murty J. Riley, who was born in Ireland 78 years ago, and who has been a resident of this village since his boyhood, died at his home on North street Monday morning. He had suffered with rheumatism for some years, but had not given up work entirely, and his end was quite sudden. Mr. Riley came to Woodstock with his mother, sister and elder brother, when about twelve years old, his brother later going to Rutland. He was employed in the Woodward woolen mill for some time, but for the past forty years or more he has been a faithful employee of the Billings estate, his wages being continued after he was obliged to give up work.

In 1879 Mr. Riley married Miss Catherine Hynes, then of Hanover, N. H., who survives him. Of their five children one son died in infancy, and the survivors are Dr. William H. Riley of Chelsea, Mass., Mrs. J. P. Goddard of Woodstock, Murty J. Riley, Jr., of the First National bank in Boston, and Miss Bessie Riley, who lives at home.

Mr. Riley was a good citizen, industrious and thrifty, and was much liked for his cordial good nature. He was a familiar figure at the Elm street bridge during the county fair for many years.

The funeral services were held at the Church of Our Lady of the Snows at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning and interment was at White River Junction.

WEST WOODSTOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Adams went to Randolph Sunday, returning Thursday.

Philip Royce, who has been confined to the house several weeks by illness, is considerably improved.

Miss Kate Braman of Westport, N. Y., and Mrs. Gough of Reber, N. Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Braman.

BRIDGEWATER.

Mrs. E. A. Davis went to Windsor last Wednesday to visit her daughter Mrs. R. W. Southgate.

Wright and Gay's Vaudeville and Moving picture show has been playing in Union Hall for the past week.

Eusebia Carlisle has been sick for several days past with tonsillitis and was unable to attend her school.

Robert Thompson has engaged to work for C. L. Allard and has moved to the Taylor farm recently purchased by Mr. Allard.

Miss Bernice Brown is working in the woolen mill.

A. H. Pinney attended the Grange meeting at West Woodstock last Friday night at the installation of officers.

Rev. Mr. McBride returned to his home in Woodsford, Me., last Monday.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. L. E. Manley next Wednesday, January 18. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. A. L. Manley and daughter of Glenn's Falls, N. Y., came last week to visit his parents, L. E. Manley and wife.

The Congregational society will hold a business meeting in the vestry next Monday evening, January 16.

R. W. Southgate of Windsor spent Tuesday and Wednesday here. He had his goods packed and shipped to Windsor.

Mrs. B. F. Weeden, who has suffered a great many years, died last Tuesday morning. The sympathy of everyone goes out to the bereaved relatives and husband.

NORTH POMFRET

John Wheeler has been quite sick, but is now somewhat better.

The town was unfortunate one day last week in losing its black work horse, which dropped dead while at work.

Bernice Harrington went to Manchester, N. H., last Saturday, planning to spend part of the winter there and the remainder in Boston.

Stephen Hewitt has been confined to the house for a few days, but is now out again.

Mrs. Sarah Delano is quite ill.

Mrs. Madgett and son were summoned to Bethel Tuesday by the serious illness of Mrs. Bessie Wheeler. Mark Madgett returned the same evening, but his mother will stay for a day or two.

New phones connected with our local line have been put in at the postoffice, Leland Clifford's, Scott Harrington's and Mrs. Elinor Mudgett's.

Albert Sherburne and Ellis Harrington are attending the dairymen's meeting in Burlington this week.

ABBOTT LIBRARY NOTES.

When any person has the chance within their reach of listening to a good lecture, and fails to take advantage of it, they are simply neglecting themselves.

Remember, President Thomas of Middlebury college lectures at Woodstock on the evening of Jan. 17th. Subject: "The Spirit of Old Vermont," and Prof. Howard of Middlebury college gives his lecture "The American Liberator," at Pomfret Center, on Friday evening, Jan. 20th.

Now don't let us neglect ourselves by staying away from these lectures.
